

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

Under-fill molding is carried out by preferentially sending a sealing resin 22 under pressure into a clearance portion 21 between a semiconductor chip 6 and a substrate 2, and a molded component gate runner 25 that is connected to the under-fill portion 24 is separated at the substrate end position.